

Treasury Department,

OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE MINT,

Washington, D. C., February 14, 1880.

Unofficial

Sir:

I have addressed you a letter by current mail in relation to expenses attendant the late Annual Assay. Your letter should state the expenses "for printing, refreshments, payment of expenses of Commissioners and preparation of medals."

I think it will be well that your letter should bear, not only my approval, but also that of the Secretary, and be returned to you to accompany your accounts as a voucher, in order that there may be no difficulty in their passage through the hands of the Accounting Officers of the Treasury.

Very respectfully,
Horatio B. Smead

Unofficial

Treasury Department,
Office of the Director of the Mint,
Washington, D.C.,
February 14, 1880

Sir:

I have addressed you a letter by current mail in relation to expenses attendant the late Annual Assay. Your letter should state the expenses "for printing, refreshments, payment of expenses of Commissioners and preparation of medals".

I think it will be well that your letter should bear, not only my approval, but also that of the Secretary, and be returned to you to accompany your accounts as a voucher, in order that there may be no difficulty in their passage through the hands of the Accounting Officers of the Treasury.

Very respectfully,
Horatio C. Burchard